Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) Responsive to communication(s) filed on 14 June 2004.
- 2a) This action is FINAL.      2b) This action is non-final.
- 3) Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in-
(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or
(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

2. Claims 21, 23-26, 30, 33-37 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by Wendelrup, U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2002/0023099 (hereinafter Wendelrup).

Regarding claim 30, Wendelrup discloses a method of transmitting a compressed digital data file comprising:

identifying a receiver (see Figure 2);
selecting a compressed data file from a compressed data file list (see Figures 4 and 5); and transmitting recognition data and the selected compressed data file to a receiver terminal, the recognition data to recognize the selected compressed data file (paragraphs 0029, 0034, 0039 and 0040).

Regarding claim 37, Wendelrup discloses a digital data terminal (2) comprising:

a compression digital unit to provide compressed digital data (paragraph 0025);

a memory to store compressed digital data (unit 10, 6, 8 or 12 from Figure 1); a wireless transmitting/receiving unit to transmit and receive digital data (paragraphs 0006-0009);

a controller to control a flow of digital data, the controller to determine whether received digital data includes recognition data to recognize a compressed data file (see Figures 4 and 5).

Regarding claim 21, Wendelrup discloses a method for transmitting a compressed digital data file (paragraph 0025) comprising:

providing an input window for inputting information on a receiver (18);

providing a stored compressed data file list to allow the receiver to select a compressed digital data file to be transmitted (Figures 4 and 5);

combining the inputted receiver information and recognition data that can recognize the selected compressed digital data file and transmitting the information to a receiver terminal (paragraphs 0039 and 0040);

determining a transmission path of the selected compressed data file according to a state of the receiver terminal (paragraph 0034).

Regarding claim 23, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 24, see Figure 3.

Regarding claim 25, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 26, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 33, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 34, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 35, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 36, see paragraph 0034.

Regarding claim 39, see paragraphs 0034 and 0025 of Wendelrup.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wendelrup in view of Kim, U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0110545 (hereinafter Kim).

Regarding claim 27, Wendelrup discloses a digital data transmitting/receiving terminal (2) comprising:

a display unit for outputting visual digital data (18);
a compressed digital data outputting unit for outputting compressed digital data (paragraph 0025);
an input device for generating input digital data according to a user's input command (see Figures 2 and 3);
a memory for storing digital data (unit 10, 6, 8 or 12 from Figure 1); a wireless transmitting/receiving unit for transmitting and receiving digital data (paragraph 0024);

a controller for controlling flow of the digital data, wherein the controller includes a data discriminating function to discriminate whether the digital data received by the wireless transmitting/receiving unit includes recognition data of the compressed digital data (see Figures 4 and 5).

With further respect to claim 27, Wendelrup does not explicitly teach the input device is a key pad. However Kim discloses this limitation (see Figure 1). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Wendelrup with the key pad taught by Kim. This modification would have improved the ergonomics of Wendelrup by allowing the user to operate the phone in a conventional manner as suggested by Kim (paragraph 0011).

5. Claims 22, 31 and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wendelrup in view of Fell et al, U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0092251 (hereinafter Fell).

With respect to claim 22, Wendelrup teaches the recognition data includes a synchronization code informing transmission of the compressed digital data file and a type, and name of the data file (see Figures 4 and 5). Wendelrup does not explicitly teach the recognition data includes the capacity of the file. However Fell discloses this limitation (see Figure 3). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Wendelrup wherein the recognition data includes the capacity of the file as taught by Fell. This modification would have modernized Wendelrup by allowing a customer to specify delivery instructions as suggested by Fell.

Claim 31 is rejected for the same reasons as claim 22.

Claim 38 is rejected for the same reasons as claim 22.

6. Claims 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wendelrup combined with Kim in view of Fell.

With respect to claim 28, Wendelrup combined with Kim teaches the recognition data includes a synchronization code informing transmission of the compressed digital data file and a type, and name of the data file (see Figures 4 and 5 from Wendelrup). The combination of Wendelrup and Kim does not explicitly teach the recognition data includes the capacity of the file. However Fell discloses this limitation (see Figure 3). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to further modify the combination of Wendelrup and Kim wherein the recognition data includes the capacity of the file as taught by Fell. This modification would have modernized the system by allowing a customer to specify delivery instructions as suggested by Fell.

Regarding claim 29, see paragraphs 0034 and 0025 of Wendelrup.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Olisa Anwah whose telephone number is 703-305-4814. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Friday from 8.30 AM to 6 PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Fan Tsang can be reached on 703-305-4895. The fax phone numbers for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned are 703-872-9314 for regular communications and 703-872-9314 for After Final communications.

Any inquiry of a general nature or relating to the status of this application or proceeding should be directed to the receptionist whose telephone number is 703-305-3900.
